SYNOPSIS

Frankie and his mum are off to the local library, where Frankie is well known to the librarian as a boy who loves books. Much to Frankie's mother's dismay, and despite her continued encouragement that Frankie read more broadly, young Frankie is determined to explain to his mother why he is so passionate about his chosen subject, tractors.

This sweet, funny story is told entirely in rhyme and Davina's narrative humour is beautifully supported by Jenny's bright, engaging illustrations.

'Why, thank you for asking,' I say with great glee,
'I'd love to explain why they're special to me,
and all of the various, glorious factors that make up the love that I have for all tractors.'

ABOUT THE AUTHOR AND ILLUSTRATOR

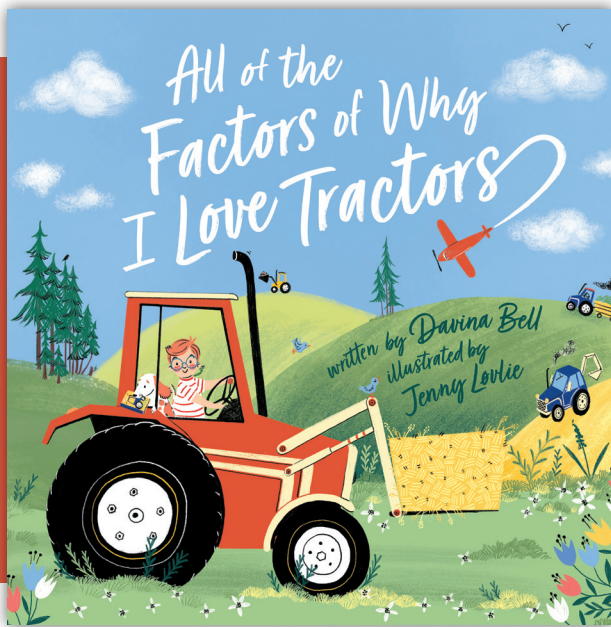

Davina Bell is a writer for young people of many ages, and a children's book editor. Her award-winning and notable picture books include All the Ways to Be Smart, Under the Love Umbrella, The Underwater Fancy-Dress Parade, Oh Albert! and Hattie Helps Out. She is also the author of the Alice books in Penguin's bestselling Our Australian Girl series, the Lemonade Jones junior fiction series, Sophia and the Corner Park Clubhouse (the first in a new middle grade series) and a young adult novel to be published in 2020 that was shortlisted for the Text Prize.

Previously a senior editor at Penguin Books, Davina now works on the children's list at Affirm Press in Melbourne. A lover of words and ideas in many forms, Davina regularly travels the country speaking to children and adults about books and writing. The magic of picture books continues to enchant her.

Jenny Løvlie is a Norwegian illustrator based in Cardiff in the United Kingdom. She grew up in northern Norway on Ekkerøy, a tiny peninsula sticking out into the Barents Sea, where she was the first child to be born in 12 years. Summers were spent in the great outdoors under the never-setting sun, climbing rocks, watching the seagull chicks hatching, and rockpooling. The dark winters were spent reading, drawing and making.

Jenny moved to London to study illustration and animation at Kingston University, and graduated with a BA Hons in 2014. She draws inspiration from the wild landscapes of Scandinavia, Nordic folklore and Scandinavian design. She loves using bold colours, interesting textures and strong shapes when creating landscapes, people and animals. Jenny is fascinated by the strong bond between humans and animals and the link between humans and nature.

Jenny's favourite things are going on adventures in her van, camping, birdwatching, cooking and reading.

THEMES

The theme of this story is that all reading is good reading and therefore should be encouraged. All teachers and librarians will be familiar with a young child's ability to fixate upon a single subject. All of the Factors of Why I Love Tractors is a delightfully gentle story that illustrates that a child reading is what is important and their love of reading about a particular subject is to be encouraged, regardless of our own interests.

WRITING STYLE

Davina's writing style is reminiscent of Dr Seuss in many ways. A wonderful and humorous read-aloud, the rhyming text is a joy to hear. All of the Factors of Why I Love Tractors might also remind the reader of Jane Godwin's picture book, How Big is Too Small.

AUTHOR MOTIVATION

Davina was inspired by a friend's child who lives on a farm, is a passionate reader and loves tractors. Davina is also motivated by the message that it does not matter what children are reading, what matters is that they are reading at all.

STUDY NOTES

Before Reading

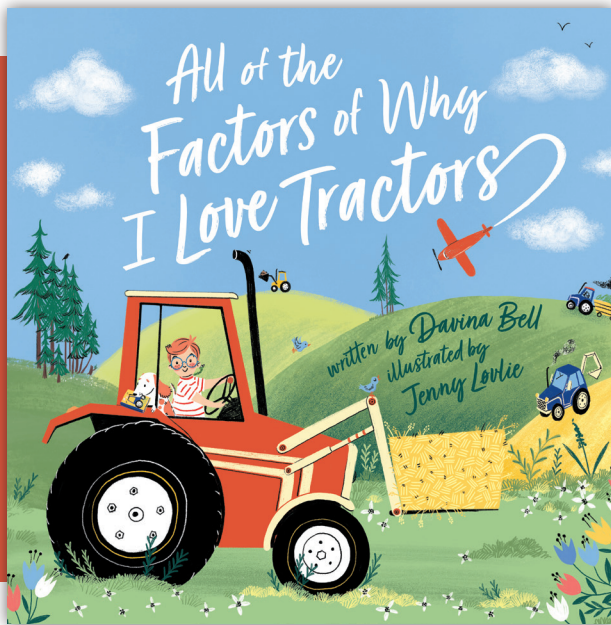

Before showing students the book or sharing the title, use the below paragraph as a prediction tool.

“Four big black tyres on wheels that can travel through huge muddy fields or across pits of gravel.

A rumbling engine, a pipe that spits smoke, a rake if you're raking, a hoe that can poke.

A seat for the farmer, a wheel that she steers, and a grumbling noise as she changes the gears.”

1. What kind of machine do students think you might be about to talk about?
2. Share the cover and title with students and ask them to predict what this book might be about.
3. Where do students think this book is set?
4. Where might Frankie and his mother be going if the hint is a book?
5. Why is it important to be quiet in the library?
6. Are students surprised to learn that All of the Factors of Why I Love Tractors is a book about libraries and reading, not just about tractors?
7. Ask students to speculate about why Frankie's mum might be tired of him reading about tractors.
8. There are many different kinds of tractors. Ask students to pair up, research tractors, choose a specific type or brand and do a presentation for the class.
9. Ask students to list all of the different vehicles and machines listed in the story. Can they remember them all?

10. Use the following line as a discussion prompt with the class: "I like books – that's what matters. Not what they're about." Do students agree? Discuss what reading means to students.
11. Ask students to share with the class what they like to read about and why.
12. Have students make recommendations to one another of a subject they feel their classmates might like to read about.
13. Ask students if they have heard of Davina Bell and Jenny Løvlie. In pairs, they might like to use the library computers to find other books written by Davina Bell and other books illustrated by Jenny Løvlie.

Visual Literacy

There are many small details in Jenny's illustrations for students to find. Can they find the following?

- Ask students to count how many times they can spot the little green caterpillar.
- Can they find a shark?
- Can they find a tiger?
- Can they find a fox?
- Can they find a giraffe?
- Can they find an elephant?
- Can they find a white cat?
- Can they find a grey goat?
- Can they find a yellow submarine?
- Can they find a snail?
- Can they find two white bunnies?
- Can they find a grey tabby cat?
- Can they find an Eskimo on a sled?
